Nationalists Insist Ben Youssef Return As Conference Ends

AIX LES BAINS, France, Aug. 28 (AP)—French and Moroccan nationalist representatives ended their weeklong talks today with the nationalists still insisting upon return of former Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef to France from exile in Madagascar.

Both sides agreed that the present Sultan, the unpopular Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat, must be replaced in the immediate future by a Council of the Throne, or regency group, pending action on Ben Youssef's status.

Cabinet Meeting Called

A Cabinet meeting was called in Paris late today to receive a set of recommendations from Pierre July, minister for Tunisian and Moroccan affairs, on behalf of Premier Edgar Faure's "Committee of Five." The committee conducted the series of meetings with Moroccan leaders here.

July boarded a special plane for the French capital following a fruitless meeting with leaders of the main Moroccan nationalist party, the Istiqlal. They maintained their demand that pro-nationalist Ben Youssef be returned to France as their price for participation in a new Moroccan government.

July was to report the Istiqlal attitude to the Cabinet, where nationalist demands were certain to meet stiff opposition. Faure and July wanted the Istiqlal to back their new Moroccan policy before — not after — any change in Ben Youssef's present situation. He was exiled by the French two years ago and replaced by pro-French Ben Moulay Arafat.

Talks Transferred To Paris

Istiqlal delegates met with July on their return this morning from Geneva, where they spent the night in conference with Ahmed Balafrej, their exiled secretary general. Balafrej advised them to stand firm in their demand for Ben Youssef's immediate return to France.

All sides agreed to transfer the negotiations to Paris and to continue talks on the basis of the French Cabinet's attitude.

Another agreement was that Si Bekkai, independent nationalist and one of Ben Youssef's staunchest supporters, will go to Madagascar in the near future to consult with the former Sultan and obtain his approval of future action.

Boat Founders, Three Perish

ROCKLAND, Maine, Aug. 28 (AP)—A lone survivor of a four-man weekend sailing party today told how the boat's owner was struck by a boom and knocked overboard and how two others vanished after their boat foundered.

Lester Harrington, 30, one of three employees of H. Rodney Brooke, Bath automobile dealer, was rescued 15 miles south of Monhegan Island today by the Coast Guard.

The cutter Snobomish earlier found a body caught in the nameless, 30-foot sloop's rigging. The half-submerged craft was floating near the annual Monhegan Island race course which the cutter was patrolling.

The body was identified by Brooke's daughter as that of her father.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) rebuffed today a suggestion that he retire from Congress. He announced a fall speaking tour in Georgia which indicated that, as of now, he intends to run again next year.

George, dean of the Senate in service and chairman of its Foreign Relations Committee, was asked in a telephone interview if he plans to retire as suggested by the Savannah Morning News.

"I hope I don't have to," was his reply. He added he supposed some of those who want him to quit may be "in their dotage."

Egypt-Israeli Fighting Flares For Fourth Day

GAZA, Egypt, Aug. 28 (AP)—Fighting between Egyptian and Israeli soldiers flared today for the fourth successive day along the tense frontier. The Egyptians gave their losses as four killed and six wounded and the Israelis two killed and five wounded.

The renewed bloodshed, which brought a total of a score killed and many wounded in the last week, came as the Arabs continued cool to U. S. Secretary of State Dulles' proposal for putting an international damper in the border strife.

In Jerusalem the Israeli government said it was giving the plan "further study."

Each Accuses Other

Each side accused the other of starting today's fighting. An Israeli army spokesman in Jerusalem claimed an Egyptian outpost opened fire with machine guns, mortars, and artillery on an Israeli patrol near the village of Beeri, wounding two Israeli soldiers. Israeli forces replied with mortars and artillery, the spokesman said. Later two Israeli soldiers were killed and three wounded when two Israeli army cars struck a mine near Beeri.

The spokesman said there was a second battle later when Egyptians opened fire with machine guns and mortars on an Israel patrol near the village of Kissufim. He said the Israelis replied with strong fire, silencing the Egyptian guns, and that the Egyptians reportedly had asked for a cease-fire all along the line.

Egyptian Version

An Egyptian army communiqué referred to only one battle lasting three hours. This was the Egyptian account.

An Egyptian post near Gaza reported Israeli troop movements in the early morning. An hour later the Israelis began firing—first with small arms, then with 25-pounders and mortars—on five Egyptian outposts east of Gaza. Another hour later the Egyptian post returned the fire.

Weeping Mystery Woman At Church Attended By Ike

DENVER, Aug. 28 (AP)—A weeping mysterious woman in black with closely shorn hair created a bit of a stir at church services which President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended today.

Neither the President nor the first lady was aware of the incident, but her appearance at the Corona Presbyterian Church caused Secret Service agents to take routine precautions.

A few minutes after the Eisenhowers had been seated well up near the front of the church the woman entered the building and knelt on the floor behind the last row of pews. Then she began sobbing quietly. She clasped her hands in an attitude of fervent prayer as tears rolled down her cheeks.

Ushers noticed her at that point and escorted the hysterical woman to a small room off to the side of the main church unit.

Adenauer Maps Kremlin Talks

BONN, Germany, Aug. 28 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, fresh from a six-week Swiss vacation, plunged today into final preparations for his crucial talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow next month.

From his white villa overlooking the Rhine, Adenauer announced he will meet this week with leaders of all political parties to iron out his strategy for the Moscow conference.

He summoned the Cabinet to a meeting Wednesday to receive a full report on the preliminary strategy mapped at a conference with his foreign policy advisers last week at his Swiss vacation headquarters.

He arranged a conference late in the week with U. S. Asst. Secretary of State Livingston Merchant, who is coming to Europe to discuss with the London, Paris and Bonn governments a proposed package deal on German unity, the release of war prisoners, and the establishment of diplomatic, trade and cultural relations.

Miss Mary E. Switzer, director of OVR, said the federal allotments may not be the actual grant amounts that the states and territories will receive. She pointed out that federal law requires matching of the funds and if a state does not appropriate sufficient money to match the entire federal allotment the federal amount is reduced accordingly.

The allotments by states for 1955-56 included:

District of Columbia $261,755; Maryland $69,988; Virginia $76,340; West Virginia $796,871; and Tennessee $1,261,353.

'Trigger' Burke Nabbed, Held On $200,000 Bond

CHARLESTON, S.C., Aug. 28 (AP)—Elmer Francis (Trigger) Burke was held today on bonds totaling $200,000 in a New York City murder and a jailbreak at Boston.

Bond of $100,000 for the 37-year-old badman, on each of the charges, was set at a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Gaines Smith.

Burke is held in the county jail until arraignment Friday at 10 a.m.

Burke surrendered without resistance to FBI agents last night at Folly Beach, a little resort town 12 miles south of Charleston.

Special agent Julius Lopez of the FBI's Savannah, Ga., office said Burke had been living under the name of "Mr. Dean" at Folly Beach and also was known as "Paul Renka" in the Charleston area.

He was unarmed when arrested but Lopez said two .38-caliber revolvers and two .22-caliber rifles were found in Burke's beach cottage.

Detectives James Corcoran and Joseph Corrigan of New York City arrived in Charleston today with a warrant for Burke in the gun slaying of Edward Walsh in New York City July 24, 1952.

Walsh, a 24-year-old friend of Burke, was fatally shot following a barroom argument.

The FBI said Burke had been sought for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in connection with the murder. Agents said he was also wanted for assault with a dangerous weapon on a prison guard during a jailbreak at Boston a year ago today.

Rehabilitation Agency Allocates $32,600,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Office of Vocational Rehabilitation today announced allocation of $32,600,000 to the states and territories in federal grants for the year ending next June 30 for basic support of the nationwide vocational rehabilitation program.

Miss Mary E. Switzer, director of OVR, said the federal allotments may not be the actual grant amounts that the states and territories will receive. She pointed out that federal law requires matching of the funds and if a state does not appropriate sufficient money to match the entire federal allotment the federal amount is reduced accordingly.

Big 4, Canada Renew Talks At UN Today

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—The Big Four and Canada gather here tomorrow to renew disarmament discussions. It will be the first test of how much further the Russians will go to relax tensions since the summit meetings in Geneva last month.

Moscow radio, on the eve of the opening of the talks, said the Soviet Union was expecting concessions from the West. But the Russians also promised to give serious consideration to Western proposals aimed at banning atomic weapons.

Russia Wants A-Weapon Ban

The Soviet radio broadcast an article from Izvestia referring to Soviet acceptance of French-British proposals for a phased reduction of conventional armed forces to agreed levels, then added:

"These proposals were an important step toward bringing closer the positions of the U.S.S.R. and the Western Powers. The Soviet Union is now entitled to expect that the Western Powers will make a step to meet the Soviet point of view in the question of banning atomic weapons, which is of the greatest importance for solving the whole problem of disarmament."

The group meeting here is the Disarmament subcommittee of the United Nations, a branch of the 12-nation Disarmament Commission made up of members of the Security Council plus Canada. Canada is included because of her important role in atomic energy.

Earlier Talks Deadlocked

After the Disarmament Commission deadlocked over reduction of armaments and control of nuclear weapons, the General Assembly asked the Big Four to sit down to a conference table to try to reach a preliminary agreement. If the United States and the Soviet Union could agree on disarmament and a control program, then the problem would disappear, the General Assembly decided in 1953.

With Canada sitting in at the first meetings in London a year ago, the subcommittee was still unable to agree.

But the personal parleys among President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and British Prime Minister Eden have been touted as marking some progress toward greater understanding.

Truman Blast At Ike Brings Reply By Hall

HST 'Sounded Like Bitter, Frustrated Man,' GOP Chief Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Republican national Chairman Leonard W. Hall said today that former President Harry S. Truman "sounded like a bitter, frustrated man" in his latest blast at the Eisenhower administration.

"It's a good thing Truman knew when to quit his office but it's unfortunate he can't take retirement with dignity and grace," Hall said.

The GOP chief put out a statement criticizing both Truman and Democratic national Chairman Paul M. Butler for what he called their "intemperate" remarks at a meeting of the Indiana Democratic Editorial Assn. yesterday in French Lick, Ind.

'Smears, Personal Attacks'

"With no real issue to take to the people, it's obvious they are going to rely on smears and personal attacks on President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon," Hall said.

"But the hate-mongers will have a tough assignment to make their attacks stick."

Butler's comments at a news conference also brought a heated retort from Sen. Allott (R-Colo.). The Democratic leader, Allott said, made an "unwarranted and gutter-politics attack" on Eisenhower and Nixon.

Truman Jealous, Hall Says

In his speech, Truman accused Eisenhower of "misrepresentation and demagoguery" and declared the country needs a Democratic president.

Hall's statement said the ex-President is "jealous of President Eisenhower's accomplishments and can't stand the comparison with Eisenhower's tremendous popularity."

Dissenters Hit Ruling By NLRB

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board split wide open today in deciding not to punish a union for unfair labor practices against its own employees.

The 3-2 ruling brought a sharp complaint from dissenting members that employers "will no doubt be astonished to learn" that unions are free to engage in the same conduct forbidden to employers.

The two dissenters said they "believe the decision achieves a paradoxical and unwarranted result in permitting unions to deny to their own employees the very rights and privileges which unions have so vigorously advocated and won for employees of others."

"Labor unions are now free to flout their very statutory provisions which they ardently champion and which have been hailed as the Magna Carta of labor."

The case that brought the ruling was the first to come before the board in its 20-year history in which a union was charged with unfair labor practices toward its own employees. It involved a wide variety of Taft-Hartley charges against an AFL Teamsters Union subdivision in Portland, Ore.

Miers made the statement to Sheriff Frank Porter of Kingman last night after he was arrested here along with his wife, Elizabeth, 28, and their four children.

"I hit him with my fist on the face," Porter quoted Miers as saying.

The couple was picked up on murder warrants issued in Palm Springs in the death of Donald E. Graham, 60, city building inspector. Graham's body was found in his home last Friday.

Economy Drive Toward Budget Balance Begins

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The administration's chief financial officer, with President Eisenhower backing, have opened a government wide campaign to cut back the upward spending trend revealed in last week's midyear budget review.

The extent to which they are successful may have considerable bearing on Eisenhower's attitude toward tax cutting proposals in the next Congress.

Legislative leaders in both parties already have begun to talk enthusiastically about cutting taxes in advance of next year's general elections, although Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), head of the Senate Finance Committee, has cautioned against any "foolhardy" or premature action.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, it was learned today, is describing the economy drive to colleagues as a series of "old fashioned revival meetings about spending, up and down the government."

Eisenhower's backing was obtained at a recent Cabinet meeting in the White House, where the President's official family was faced with the fact that although a balanced budget is virtually assured by next June 30, government spending is on the way up, not down.

The new budget estimates announced Thursday showed a projected deficit of $1,700,000,000 for this fiscal year, which runs through June. This was 700 million dollars less than the $2,400,000,000 deficit estimate on which Eisenhower based his budget message last January.

In announcing the new estimates, Humphrey said "we should and we can" balance the budget during the next 10 months.

Threat Eases; Total Damage Set In Millions

Blaze Probably Will Continue At Least Another 24 Hours

WHITING, Ind., Aug. 28 (AP)—A multimillion-dollar fire which has raged more than a day and a half still flared savagely today in the badly-stricken refinery of the Standard Oil Co. (Indiana).

The blaze which initially shot flames hundreds of feet into the air and cast a heavy, acrid smoke pall through this northern Indiana area has been brought under control. But the weary fire fighters reported the blaze probably will continue for at least another 24 hours.

The west central area of the 1,660-acre plant was turned into a broad, puffing torch yesterday morning by explosion of a 26-story high hydroformer cracking unit. The blast hurled a fragment of steel more than a block into a house, killing a 3-year-old boy. The blast, too, caused the heart death of a refinery foreman.

Loss Far Exceeds 10 Million

The loss in property damage was expected to far exceed the 10 million dollars estimated as a minimum by Robert E. Wilson, chairman of Standard Oil, Wilson's estimate covered only damage to Standard's property.

American Red Cross headquarters in Washington earlier had estimated total damage to the plant, nearby homes and all other property at 100 millions. However, Al Ciesar, chairman of the Whiting Red Cross chapter, said today neither he nor any other local Red Cross official had made any damage estimate.

Damage inside the plant far exceeded all outside damage. Refinery manager A. F. Endres said the fire has consumed more than 42 million gallons of crude oil and oil products.

14 Remain Hospitalized

Company officials said that 14 persons remained hospitalized with burns and other injuries, three of them in serious condition. Red Cross reports showed that at least 70 others were treated for minor hurts during the first 24 hours.

The fire fighters were relying on continuation of gentle southwest winds of 5 to 10 miles per hour—blowing toward nearby Lake Michigan away from the town and a large gasoline storage area in the southwest corner of the plant.

Danger to the town, some 16 miles southeast of Chicago's Loop and about 10 miles northeast of the Gary, Ind., business district, was largely abated. Flushing of the severely localized threats from gas accumulations which had caused Whiting Public Works Commissioner John J. Standish to speak of living "on a virtual powder keg."

'Edith' Swinging Away From U.S.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 28 (AP)—Cloudy-eyed Hurricane Edith swung ponderously into a northward path today that may take its 100-mile winds near Bermuda and away from the United States coastline.

It was located 240 miles south of the British resort islands and 1,020 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., at 5 p.m. EST. Storm forecasts said it was now moving at 8 miles an hour, a slight increase in speed.

"Movement during the next 12 to 18 hours is expected to be between north and northeast at about 8 to 9 miles per hour, followed by some acceleration in forward speed afterward," the 5 p.m. advisory said.

"If this movement is maintained the hurricane should pass to the east of Bermuda Monday."

Edith, fifth tropical storm of the year, moved northwest after its discovery Aug. 27. It slowed to a crawl Saturday and turned to the north while still about 1,000 miles away from the American coastline. It twice crossed the path taken earlier by Diane.

He was unarmed when arrested but Lopez said two .38-caliber revolvers and two .22-caliber rifles were found in Burke's beach cottage.

Detectives James Corcoran and Joseph Corrigan of New York City arrived in Charleston today with a warrant for Burke in the New York slaying of Edward Walsh in New York City July 24, 1952.

Walsh, a 24-year-old friend of Burke, was fatally shot following a barroom argument.

The FBI said Burke had been sought for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in connection with the murder. Agents said he was also wanted for assault with a dangerous weapon on a prison guard during a jailbreak at Boston a year ago today.

Rehabilitation Agency Allocates $32,600,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The Office of Vocational Rehabilitation today announced allocation of $32,600,000 to the states and territories in federal grants for the year ending next June 30 for basic support of the nationwide vocational rehabilitation program.

Miss Mary E. Switzer, director of OVR, said the federal allotments may not be the actual grant amounts that the states and territories will receive. She pointed out that federal law requires matching of the funds and if a state does not appropriate sufficient money to match the entire federal allotment the federal amount is reduced accordingly.

The allotments by states for 1955-56 included: District of Columbia $261,755; Maryland $89,988; Virginia $76,340; West Virginia $96,871; and Tennessee $261,353.

Snake In Stomach

DESENZANO, Italy, Aug. 28 (AP)—Tourist Heinrich Dietrich, 23, of Vienna, complained of an upset stomach. X-rays showed the cause—a two-inch water snake.

Dietrich said he must have swallowed it a few days earlier, drinking water from a stream while camping.

Big 4, Canada Renew Talks At UN Today

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—The Big Four and Canada gather here tomorrow to renew disarmament discussions. It will be the first test of how much farther the Russians will go to relax tensions since the summit meetings in Geneva last month.

Moscow radio, on the eve of the opening of the talks, said the Soviet Union was expecting concessions from the West. But the Russians also promised to give serious consideration to Western proposals aimed at banning atomic weapons.

Russia Wants A-Weapon Ban

The Soviet radio broadcast an article from Izvestia referring to Soviet acceptance of French-British proposals for a phased reduction of conventional armed forces to agreed levels, then added:

"These proposals were an important step toward bringing closer the positions of the U.S.S.R. and the Western Powers. The Soviet Union is now entitled to expect that the Western Powers will make a step to meet the Soviet point of view in the question of banning atomic weapons, which is of the greatest importance for solving the whole problem of disarmament."

The group meeting here is the Disarmament subcommittee of the United Nations, a branch of the 12-nation Disarmament Commission made up of members of the Security Council plus Canada. Canada is included because of her important role in atomic energy.

Earlier Talks Deadlocked

After the Disarmament Commission deadlocked over reduction of armaments and control of nuclear weapons, the General Assembly asked the Big Four to sit down at a conference table to try to reach a preliminary agreement.

If the United States and the Soviet Union could agree on disarmament and a control program, then the problem would disappear, the General Assembly decided in 1953.

With Canada sitting in at the first meetings in London a year ago, the subcommittee was still unable to agree.

But the personal parleys among President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and British Prime Minister Eden have been touted as marking some progress toward greater understanding.

Four Lose Lives In Auto Collision

BRISTOL, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—Four people were burned to death and two others injured near here early today in a three-car collision on Maryland 416.

Anne Arundel County Police at Edgewater identified the dead as:

Oscar Bowen Stallings, 26, of the U. S. Navy and Hamilton Crosby Stallings, 30, both of Friendship, Md.; Joan Joy, 20, and Phyllis Ann Leech, 15, both of Washington. All were passengers in a car driven by Oscar Stallings.

Japan's Poison Milk Mystery Is Solved

TOKYO, Monday, Aug. 29 (AP)—The mystery of how poison got into powdered milk, taking a toll of at least 42 Japanese babies dead and 4,653 stricken, was believed solved today.

A spokesman for the powdered milk manufacturer, Morinaga Milk Industry Co., announced that its Tokushima plant in southwestern Japan reported "indications of the presence of arsenic in sodium phosphate." The spokesman said sodium phosphate was used in the milk processing.

A spokesman for the agency which supplied the sodium phosphate said the Morinaga plant made no purity specification and was sold a crude mixture ordinarily used as a cleanser.

Truman Blast At Ike Brings Reply By Hall

HST 'Sounded Like Bitter, Frustrated Man,' GOP Chief Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Republican national Chairman Leonard W. Hall said today that former President Harry S. Truman "sounded like a bitter, frustrated man" in his latest blast at the Eisenhower administration.

"It's a good thing Truman knew when to quit his office but it's unfortunate he can't take retirement with dignity and grace," Hall said.

The GOP chief put out a statement criticizing both Truman and Democratic national Chairman Paul M. Butler for what he called their "intemperate" remarks at a meeting of the Indiana Democratic Editorial Assn. yesterday in French Lick, Ind.

'Smears, Personal Attacks'

"With no real issue to take to the people, it's obvious they are going to rely on smears and personal attacks on President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon," Hall said.

"But the hate mongers will have a tough assignment to make their attacks stick."

Butler's comments at a news conference also brought a heated retort from Sen. Allott (R-Colo.). The Democratic leader, Allott said, made an "unwarranted and gutter-pollitics attack" on Eisenhower and Nixon.

Truman Jealous, Hall Says

In his speech, Truman accused Eisenhower of "misrepresentation and demagoguery" and declared the country needs a Democratic president.

Hall's statement said the ex-President is "jealous of President Eisenhower's accomplishments and can't stand the comparison with Eisenhower's tremendous popularity."

Dissenters Hit Ruling By NLRB

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board split wide open today in deciding not to punish a union for unfair labor practices against its own employees.

The 3-2 ruling brought a sharp complaint from dissenting members that employers "will no doubt be astonished to learn" that unions are free to engage in the same conduct forbidden to employers.

The two dissenters said they "believe the decision achieves a paradoxical and unwarranted result in permitting unions to deny to their own employees the very rights and privileges which unions have so vigorously advocated and won for employees of others."

"Labor unions are now free to flout the very statutory provisions which they ardently champion and which have been hailed as the Magna Carta of labor."

The case that brought the ruling was the first to come before the board in its 20-year history in which a union was charged with unfair labor practices toward its own employees. It involved a wide variety of Taft-Hartley charges against an AFL Teamsters Union subdivision in Portland, Ore.

Suspect Admits He Struck City Official Found Dead

KINGMAN, Ariz., Aug. 28 (AP)—Robert Kenneth Miers, 30, of Los Angeles, says he fought with a Palm Springs, Calif., city official, later found dead, after the official made romantic overtures to Miers' wife.

Miers made the statement to Sheriff Frank Porter of Kingman last night after he was arrested here along with his wife, Elizabeth, 28, and their four children.

"I hit him with my fist on the face," Porter quoted Miers as saying.

The couple was picked up on murder warrants issued in Palm Springs in the death of Donald E. Graham, 60, city building inspector. Graham's body was found in his home last Friday.

The Miers children — aged 5, 3, 2 and 11 months — have been

Economy Drive Toward Budget Balance Begins

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The administration's chief financial officer, with President Eisenhower backing, have opened a government wide campaign to cut back the upward spending trend revealed in last week's midyear budget review.

The extent to which they are successful may have considerable bearing on Eisenhower's attitude toward tax cutting proposals in the next Congress.

Legislative leaders in both parties already have begun to talk enthusiastically about cutting taxes in advance of next year's general elections, although Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), head of the Senate Finance Committee, has cautioned against any "foolhardy" or premature action.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, it was learned today, is describing the economy drive to colleagues as a series of "old fashioned revival meetings about spending, up and down the government."

Eisenhower's backing was obtained at a recent Cabinet meeting in the White House, where the President's official family was faced with the fact that although a balanced budget is virtually assured by next June 30, government spending is on the way up, not down.

The new budget estimates announced Thursday showed a projected deficit of $1,700,000,000 for this fiscal year, which runs through June. This was 700 million dollars less than the $2,400,000,000 deficit estimate on which Eisenhower based his budget message last January.

In announcing the new estimates, Humphrey said "we should and we can" balance the budget during the next 10 months.

"Seascope" Success

MIDDLE RIVER, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—Civil Defense officials reviewed Operation Seascope today and concluded that the test evacuation of persons by small boat was a success.

Sixty privately-owned pleasure boats evacuated 250 persons from the seaplane ramp at the Glenn L. Martin Co. plant here yesterday in 35 minutes.

Threat Eases; Total Damage Set In Millions

Blaze Probably Will Continue At Least Another 24 Hours

WHITING, Ind., Aug. 28 (AP)—A multimillion-dollar fire which has raged more than a day and a half still flared savagely today in the badly-stricken refinery of the Standard Oil Co. (Indiana).

The blaze which initially shot flames hundreds of feet into the air and cast a heavy, acrid smoke pall through this northern Indiana area has been brought under control. But the weary fire fighters reported the blaze probably will continue for at least another 24 hours.

The west central area of the 1,600-acre plant was turned into a broad, puffing torch yesterday morning by explosion of a 26-story high hydroformer cracking unit. The blast hurled a fragment of steel more than a block into a house, killing a 3-year-old boy. The blast, too, caused the heart death of a refinery foreman.

Loss Far Exceeds 10 Million

The loss in property damage was expected to far exceed the 10 million dollars estimated as a minimum by Robert E. Wilson, chairman of Standard Oil, Wilson's estimate covered only damage to Standard's property.

American Red Cross headquarters in Washington earlier had estimated total damage to the plant, nearby homes and all other property at 100 millions. However, Al Ciesar, chairman of the Whiting Red Cross chapter, said today neither he nor any other local Red Cross official had made any damage estimate.

Damage inside the plant far exceeded all outside damage.

Refinery manager A. F. Endres said the fire has consumed more than 42 million gallons of crude oil and oil products.

14 Remain Hospitalized

Company officials said that 14 persons remained hospitalized with burns and other injuries, three of them in serious condition. Red Cross reports showed that at least 70 others were treated for minor burns during the first 24 hours.

The fire fighters were relying on continuation of gentle southwest winds of 5 to 10 miles per hour—blowing toward nearby Lake Michigan away from the town and a large gasoline storage area in the southwest corner of the plant.

Danger to the town, some 18 miles southeast of Chicago's Loop and about 10 miles northeast of the Gary, Ind., business district, was largely abated. Flushing of the sewers localized the threats from gas accumulations which had caused Whiting Public Works Commissioner John J. Standish to speak of living "on a virtual powder keg."

'Edith' Swinging Away From U.S.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 28 (AP)—Cloudy-eyed Hurricane Edith swung ponderously into a northward path today that may take its 100-mile winds near Bermuda and away from the United States coastline.

It was located 240 miles south of the British resort islands and 1,020 miles east of Daytona Beach, Fla., at 5 p.m. EST. Storm forecasters said it was now moving at 8 miles an hour, a slight increase in speed.

"Movement during the next 12 to 18 hours is expected to be between north and northeast at about 8 to 9 miles per hour, followed by some acceleration in forward speed afterward," the 5 p.m. advisory said.

"If this movement is maintained the hurricane should pass to the east of Bermuda Monday."

Edith, fifth tropical storm of the year, moved northwest after its discovery Aug. 27. It slowed to a crawl Saturday and turned to the north while still about 1,000 miles away from the American coastline. It twice crossed the path taken earlier by Diane.

Miss Compton Will Head Chest Residential Unit

With the announcement of the chairmanship of the residential section, the staff of leaders of the 1955-56 Cumberland Community Chest campaign is complete, according to Dr. Charles L. Kopp, general chairman.

Dr. Kopp said Dr. Lillian C. Compton, retired president of Frostburg State Teachers College, will head the important residential section—the group of women who make the house-to-house canvass for the United Fund drive.

Along with Dr. Compton in the key positions are Harold D. Barber, chairman of the sales army; Robert E. Barnard, the classified section, and James W. Bishop, advance gifts.

Goal Is $125,974

The goal for this year's campaign has been established by the Community Chest budget committee at $125,974.

This is an increase over last year, but much of it is due to the Community Chest welcoming the Salvation Army back into the United Fund effort after an absence of two years.

Dr. Kopp reported that each of the four division leaders has his or her key organization set up.

Also discussed was the goal of getting complete coverage into all walks of Cumberland life during the forthcoming drive in October.

The correction of weak spots that arose in previous campaigns was also aired, he said.

Seek Complete Canvass

There is a strong determination among the 1955-56 drive leaders for a complete canvass, he added. Dr. Compton, who will head the very important women's section, is not a newcomer to administration and organization.

Her long career in the Allegheny County public school system was culminated with her service as assistant superintendent of schools while Dr. Kopp was superintendent.

Then in 1944, she was chosen to be president of Frostburg State Teachers College. Her successful

10 years at the helm of that higher education institution can be pinpointed by visiting the campus of the Frostburg school.

During that decade, she was primarily instrumental in keeping the college in Frostburg, and beyond that seeing a building program get underway that makes the school a modern plant capable of handling many times as many students as it did when she went there.

The Chest campaign office in the County Building, Union Street, will open on Tuesday, September 6, to prepare for the drive in October, the general chairman reported.

Souvenir Plates Here This Week

The final shipment of Fort Cumberland Bicentennial souvenir dinner plates, delayed by a strike at the plant, will reach Cumberland early this week, according to word received Friday by Col. F. Egerton Powell, committee chairman.

Orders for approximately 200 of these attractive plates are on file and there will be some additional plates for sale at the Bicentennial headquarters, North Centre street, starting next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What sort of expression is there on your face when you're not looking?

Others are looking, even when you're not conscious of any expression on your face at all. When you're waiting on a corner for transportation, for example. Are you the Great Stone Face, like the forbidding older woman who waits with you? Are you wearing a Mask of Mystery, like the odd type who never changes expression? Or do you look like the Cross Patch you are not, because you squint and frown?

None of these facial expressions are calculated to appeal to others. They aren't calculated at all, but they have their effect. Acquaintances avoid speaking to you. No one is encouraged to meet you. People you do meet later must get over the unflattering opinions they formed.

Of course you shouldn't be so conscious of yourself that you put on a pretty expression every hour of the day. It's quite natural to be pleasantly expressionless in some circumstances. But try to catch yourself at making unconscious faces. If they are grim, you look disillusioned or on the defensive. If they are mask-like, some may think you are coldly unfriendly; others, that you're self-conscious and trying to hide it. If you frown, others brace themselves against your irritability.

There may be no more behind a habitual frown than a need for glasses. Surely you don't want the world to misjudge you for that. Betake yourself to the eye doctor at once to test for the becoming glasses that are so easy to find today. And another reason for an

Committees selected to plan and direct the departments' project are:

Short Gap — Melvin Snyder, chief; M. J. Krizmencic Sr., assistant chief; W. D. Schafer, Wilbur Sisk and Baker Brelsford.

Fort Ashby — Douglas Deremer, chief; John Gaumer, president; Oscar Broome, Floyd Wagoner, Donald Grayson and William Simmons.

During the survey property owners will be advised on fire hazards, such as fusing, storage of inflammable materials, condition of heating units and wiring.

E. Wade Thomas, of Keyser, and L. E. Shingledecker of the State Fire Marshal's office are in charge of the program.

North African Volcano Erupts

France, which has been criticized for moving troops pledged to the defense of Europe to North Africa, can now make out a good case for the shift. The trouble anticipated by the French cabinet when the troops were sent has broken out in Algeria and Morocco in a gust of violence.

A massacre of French colonists reminiscent of the Mau Mau terror in Kenya has occurred at the little settlement of Qued Zem and killings throughout the colonies in the uprisings of the last week are in the thousands.

The colonies are turning into a seething cauldron of fear and hatred and the situation is apparently on the verge of deteriorating into the type of guerilla war that plagued Indochina.

The fear and hatred between the Arabs and the French colonists have been in the atmosphere for a long time, but the open, widespread violence has been precipitated by two incidents. They have apparently been timed to coincide with the second anniversary of dethronement of Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef, Morocco's nationalist leader, and the opening of a conference between French and Moroccan officials at Aix-les-Bains to discuss means of giving the colony more self-government.

If there is any ground for optimism it lies in the fact that the great U. S. air bases in Morocco, designed for the defense of Europe, have so far not been threatened by attack. But these bases might become untenable and this North African anchor of the NATO defense line could crumble if the conferences now beginning failed to produce a formula to restore some measure of stability to Morocco and Algiers.

These Days

Presidential Elections

In the past session of Congress, seven resolutions were introduced proposing constitutional amendments changing the method for nominating and electing the President and Vice President of the United States. What it all comes down to is that there seems to be an excitement about having a more direct election of these officers.

The main objection to the Electoral system is that an unfair discrimination exists whereby the "individual voter in New York State has fifteen times the vote-power in Presidential elections as an equally important individual citizen in Delaware." Personally, I cannot get excited by the arithmetic.

What is causing the citizen profound concern is that he actually does not have much choice in the selection of a President. He is given two names, selected by a small group in each party, and he has to vote for one or the other or not at all.

Let me recount the inside story of the Willie nomination as an example of what actually happens. But before I go on with the story, permit me to make the point that every once in a while, I read a letter from someone calling attention to an error of fact in an article in this column, the error being that the letter-writer never heard of the matter to which I refer, while I am recounting what is to me a personal experience because I handled the matter personally.

I was once associated with the National Association of Manufacturers and at that time a group of big business men decided that they had to find a candidate to defeat Franklin D. Roosevelt and that the candidate Republican would not do because he could not get elected. So, Wendell Wilkie, a lawyer for Commonwealth and Southern, who had come up from Indiana, was studied as one of several prospects. He believed in private enterprise and was a top-notch public relations man. So they decided to test him out and they got him on a session of the Town Meeting of the Air, where he did a splendid job. Now, I am not talking from books because I worked on that job along with some other wordsmiths.

So Wilkie made good and a special organization was established and duly financed to mobilize American business in every town in the United States for Wendell Wilkie. This was highly camouflaged and its existence is still denied, but I was there. So the denials make no impression upon me. I know a lot of other people who were there.

So all of a sudden, this comparatively obscure man, who had been a Socialist at college and a registered Democrat in New York, and who got his job because he was a Democrat, was made into a Republican and put over as a colossal tribune of the people, who could defeat Franklin D. Roosevelt. (Incidentally, and this can be checked, some of these business men contributed to Roosevelt as well as to Wilkie.)

I cite this example because I personally witnessed this organization in its early stages and then voted for Roger Babson to save my conscience. And many unbelievable incidents related to this effort come to my mind whenever I think of a free election and the free choice of the people.

The question of political responsibility and the political growth of the individual leader is really more important than the amendments I see before me. Take for instance, the nomination of President Eisenhower. The leader of the Republican Party was Robert A. Taft, but Eisenhower, an outsider, was nominated because the inner group in the party, this time the same business men combined with the Dewey machine, felt that Taft could not be elected and that Eisenhower could be. And Eisenhower was elected. But what of political responsibility?

There are some in this country who no longer believe in party responsibility and who are leading us, step by step, toward government by personal popularity. The parties are losing the reason for existence, except as vehicles of election. Yet experience shows that the two-party system, operating on principle, and led by men of political responsibility as in Great Britain, produces an efficient, competent type of government for a free people. How to re-establish that kind of political responsibility in this country is really our most pressing problem.

Nation Seeks Inspection, Not Disarmament

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON — The practical value of the Geneva Conference is now to be tested for the first time, at the meeting of the United Nations Disarmament Commission, today. The best guide to the test is an incident that took place here in Washington shortly before the President left for the Summit.

In those pre-Geneva weeks, no subject divided the highest echelon of policy-makers more violently than the subject of disarmament. Having been named as the President's disarmament specialist, the always ambitious Harold Stassen was now, in effect, running for high office on a disarmament platform. Stassen therefore favored bold action on disarmament at Geneva. For obvious reasons, he was also supported by the President's psychological warfare adviser—Nelson Rockefeller.

In all three armed services, in contrast, the mere idea of a serious discussion of disarmament caused the liveliest alarm. The Pentagon was unanimous in not wanting to offer the rather hastily considered disarmament plan then being pressed by Stassen, and unanimous, too, in not wanting to offer any plan at all.

Dulles Septical

At the State Department, meanwhile, Secretary John Foster Dulles maintained the highly sceptical attitude that marked his whole approach to the summit conference. As the summit meeting grew nearer and nearer, the President's hopeful enthusiasm grew warmer and warmer. But Dulles never wavered, especially on the question of disarmament, from his viewpoint that tangible results were not to be expected.

Such, then, were the approaches to the problem at the crucial pre-summit meeting which the President called to work out an American disarmament policy. In its first stages, this historic discussion of disarmament threatened to deteriorate into a name-calling match. The Stassen-Rockefeller approach and the Pentagon approach were diametrically opposed.

sed, and the strongest emotions were felt on both sides.

Secretary of State Dulles acted as the great reconciler. He used the rather simple expedient of shoving the real issue under the rug, or at least off the conference table. He said, in effect:

"We know we are not going to attempt any disagreement without adequate safeguards. Therefore it is not worth arguing about what kind of disarmament we are going to accept and support, until we are sure that the other side will let the right kind of inspection. Let's concentrate, then, on inspection. Inspection and safeguards are the means by which the end is first made possible and then insured."

Shrewd Intervention

This shrewd intervention by Dulles brought agreement out of the intra-governmental wrangle which might otherwise have continued indefinitely. Thus the way was opened to the moral victory achieved by the President's famous proposal of mutual aerial inspection. But one vital point must now be grasped above all others. What the President talked about at Geneva was not disarmament at all. It was inspection. What the newspapers have excitedly described, in their advance notices of Gov. Stassen's program for the U. N. Disarmament meeting today, is not disarmament either. It is still inspection. Disarmament is the end. Inspection and safeguards are the means by which the end is first made possible and then insured.

Moreover, there are still the same wide differences of view policy-makers as there were before Geneva. So far as can be discovered, therefore, American post-Geneva policy is only a refined and elaborated version of American pre-Geneva policy. A detailed program of inspection and safeguards has been prepared for presentation today. It will combine the two features: the mutual aerial inspection proposed by the President, plus fixed inspection teams stationed at key rail junctions and other points where preparations for aggression may be observed.

Favors Limitation

But with nuclear weapons control held to be impossible, Stassen naturally inclines toward limitation of the means of delivering nuclear weapons. That will mean sacrificing the Strategic Air Command, the only real remaining element of American offensive power. And before anything of that sort is attempted, both the Pentagon and the American public will have a good deal to say about it.

In short, although Stassen may be ready to offer his own private disarmament program as well as his inspection and safeguards program, this country is not any nearer to having an agreed, nationally supported approach to disarmament. Yet we are now plunging into a disarmament conference.

This is the kind of false situation that always arises when the attempt is made to decide by fiat the highest questions of national policy. And in the present case, it is an enormously dangerous false situation; for the Soviets most particularly do not want the inspection and safeguards that Stassen is ready to talk about. And if the Soviets want anything at all, they really want the disarmament that Stassen cannot possibly talk about with the approval of a national spokesman.

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

After blowing our top secrets via the pumpkin route we laid our cards where our chips are.

There comes a time when we stand at the cross-roads in the Pentagon and point with pride. In the Pentagon that's a job for a starfish.

It was a big Navy starfish who announced we were in the retail atom field. Admiral Strauss says we will let competitors bor-for-apples in the uranium pool.

The price list is subject to change without reason. We will supply 27 nations with the makings.

For mushroom clouds with silver linings our 20-20 uranium powder is $11,632 per pound. Wax dummies extra.

This is the goofer dust for king-size atom pop-offs.

Shivers Blast May Help Stevenson; Demos Don't Like Adlai's ADA Links

By Tom McNamara

(Editor's Note—White Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation his usual column will be written by members of his staff.)

WASHINGTON—Even his enemies—and he seems to have a lot of them—agree that the best break Adlai Stevenson has received in his comeback battle for the Democratic presidential nomination—and he can use a few breaks—was when Governor Allan Shivers of Texas came out against him.

To regular Democrats, every knock is a boost from the Dixiecrat Texan who supported the Republicans in 1952. However, Shivers said some things in his anti-Stevenson blast that many regular Democrats would agree with, much as they dislike Shivers. He also left unsaid a number of things that Democratic leaders, outside the Stevenson camp, have been saying privately.

A prominent Democrat who doesn't want to be quoted sized up the 1956 Chicago Convention as follows: "If Governor Stevenson is a candidate, he will be strongly supported in the early balloting. He will have a good many pledged delegates, including probably a sizable number from the South, but after the third ballot they will be looking around for the exits."

"In my opinion, Stevenson's problem will be controlling the itchy feet among his delegates," this leader added. "You must remember, he made it by only one and a half votes at the 1952 convention in Chicago."

Adlai's "Drawbacks"

What is the story behind the sudden allergy to the man who led the Democratic ticket in 1952? Adlai Stevenson is a plain-spoken person himself, probably would like it better if it were brought out into the open. Here are some of the "drawbacks" that have been dogging his comeback trail.

1. Stevenson was defeated decisively once by Eisenhower. Even under the best possible campaign conditions, a defeated candidate has at least one strike on him.

2. Democratic foes of Stevenson claim he is too much of the suave, "city slicker" type to compete successfully against the popular and earthy Eisenhower. All Democratic leaders, both for and against Stevenson, assume that the president will run again. The charge that the ADA is "left wing" is highly disputable. The charge that Stevenson is closely linked up with the ADA is, however, a matter of record and many regular Democrats resent Adlai's tie with an independent group.

This leader, incidentally, is one of the top liberals in the Democratic party, but he told the ADA representative that he opposed the Stevenson nomination in 1952 and would be against Stevenson again at the 1956 convention in Chicago.

"Why?" asked his visitor. "Partly because I don't think he can beat Eisenhower with the party, to be very frank with you, because he is too closely associated with your organization," was the reply.

BABSON PARK, Mass. — How sound is our present prosperity? How long can it last? These are questions that many readers have recently asked. The man who will call the shots at the 1956 Democratic Convention in Chicago is Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. Rayburn, who would like the Democratic nomination himself and deserves it, will control the key southern delegations. A good long-shot bet is Kefauver for President and Harriman for Vice President. Former President Harry Truman has been privately plumping for Kefauver. So has House Majority Leader John McCormack of Massachusetts, who is a potent influence in the party and works closely with Speaker Rayburn both in legislative and political matters. Carmine De Sapio, the Tammany boss and a shrewd politician, apparently jumped the gun in advising his own candidate for the White House, Governor Averell Harriman of New York, to declare openly for Stevenson. De Sapio had hoped that Stevenson would be able to swing his delegates to Harriman, if the Illinoisan can't get the nomination himself, but the experts say this won't happen. De Sapio's advocacy of "favorite son" candidates in northern states also may backfire in favor of Kefauver, not Harriman, according to competent observers.

Stassen Leaves Change

FOA Chief Harold Stassen, the man who expends hundreds of millions in foreign aid, rushed into the house restaurant for a package of cigarettes, left a quarter on the counter, and rushed out again before the cashier could give him a penny change.

"What are you going to do with that penny?" a news reporter asked Mrs. Edith Ridgely, hostess of the house dinery.

"Oh, it will go into a general revolving fund, I guess, as an overage on the day's receipts," speculated Mrs. Ridgely. "The next time Mr. Stassen comes in here, maybe when he's down to his last, maybe in foreign aid, he'll refund him the penny, providing we can catch him."

Adolescence Is Testing Ground For Independence

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deifen

Don't be too hard on your adolescent son or daughter. John is neither boy nor man; he wants to be mature but is staggered by the thought of adult responsibilities. Most of these young people are growing up but prefer to emancipate themselves by degrees.

Teen-agers may want their parents to enforce limitations so that each new experience and responsibility can be absorbed and digested.

Dr. Aldrich relates the following incident: "A high school girl gested. But do not expect John or Mary to admit this to their parents. One of the best examples of this phase of adolescence was described by Dr. C. Knight Aldrich in his book, "Psychiatry for the Family Physician."

Dr. Aldrich relates the following incident: "A high school girl at a party telephoned her mother for permission to accompany her friends on an excursion after the party. The hour would be late, the distance considerable, and the destination not familiar. The mother detected a note of real anxiety in her son's voice as she asked: 'I suppose you won't let me go, will you, Mother?'

"The mother said she thought it might be wiser for the daughter to come right home after the party. The response came back in a voice resolute in confidence and loud enough to proclaim to the party the martyrdom its owner suffered: 'O. Mother, you're so old-fashioned! You never let me do anything that's fun!'

This girl wanted a negative answer even though she gave her friends the impression her mother was disapproving. If her mother had answered, "Go, if you want to," our teen-ager "would have had to choose between attending a party for which she felt uneasy and apprehensive and incurring the scorn of her associates for not wishing to conform."

Adolescence is hard on parents also. The youngster uses a variety of ways and means to assert his independence and establish new relationships. Dad and Mother are likely to suffer, in the process. Meanwhile, John may become a critical of his father to boost his own independence. He compares Dad with a more successful father of a friend or with one of his athletic heroes.

North African Volcano Erupts

France, which has been criticized for moving troops pledged to the defense of Europe to North Africa, can now make out a good case for the shift. The trouble anticipated by the French cabinet when the troops were sent has broken out in Algeria and Morocco in a gust of violence.

A massacre of French colonists reminiscent of the Mau Mau terror in Kenya has occurred at the little settlement of Qued Zem and killings throughout the colonies in the uprisings of the last week are in the thousands.

The colonies are turning into a seething cauldron of fear and hatred and the situation is apparently on the verge of deteriorating into the type of guerrilla war that plagued Indochina.

The fear and hatred between the Arabs and the French colonists have been in the atmosphere for a long time, but the open, widespread violence has been precipitated by two incidents. They have apparently been timed to coincide with the second anniversary of dethronement of Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef, Morocco's nationalist leader, and the opening of a conference between French and Moroccan officials at Aix-les-Bains to discuss means of giving the colony more self-government.

If there is any ground for optimism it lies in the fact that the great U. S. air bases in Morocco, designed for the defense of Europe, have so far not been threatened by attack. But these bases might become untenable and this North African anchor of the NATO defense line could crumble if the conferences now beginning failed to produce a formula to restore some measure of stability to Morocco and Algiers.

These Days

Presidential Elections

In the past session of Congress, seven resolutions were introduced proposing constitutional amendments changing the method for nominating and electing the President and Vice President of the United States. What it all comes down to is that there seems to be an excitement about having a more direct election of these officers.

The main objection to the Electoral system is that an unfair discrimination exists whereby the "individual voter in New York State has fifteen times the vote-power in Presidential elections as an equally important individual citizen in Delaware." Personally, I cannot get excited by the arithmetic.

What is causing the citizen profound concern is that he actually does not have much choice in the selection of a President. He is given two names, selected by a small group in each party, and he has to vote for one or the other or not at all.

Let me recount the inside story of the Wilkie nomination as an example of what actually happens. But before I go on with the story, permit me to make the point that every once in a while, I read a letter from someone calling attention to an error of fact in an article in this column, the error being that the letter-writer never heard of the matter to which I refer, while I am recounting what is to me a personal experience because I handled the matter personally.

I was once associated with the National Association of Manufacturers and at that time a group of big business men decided that they had to find a candidate to defeat Franklin D. Roosevelt and that the ordinary Republican would not do because he could not get elected. So, Wendell Wilkie, a lawyer for Commonwealth and Southern, who had come up from Indiana, was studied as one of several prospects. He believed in private enterprise and was a top-notch public relations man. So they decided to test him out and they got him on a session of the Town Meeting of the Air, where he did a splendid job. Now, I am not talking from books because I worked on that job along with some other wordsmiths.

So Wilkie made good and a special organization was established and duly financed to mobilize American business in every town in the United States for Wendell Wilkie. This was highly camouflaged and its existence is still denied, but I was there. So the denials make no impression upon me. I know a lot of other people who were there.

So all of a sudden, this comparatively obscure man, who had been a Socialist at college and a registered Democrat in New York, and who got his job because he was a Democrat, was made into a Republican and put over as a colossal tribune of the people, who would defeat Franklin D. Roosevelt. (Incidentally, and this can be checked, some of these business men contributed to Roosevelt as well as to Wilkie.)

I cite this example because I personally witnessed this organization in its early stages and then voted for Poger Babson to save my conscience. And many unbelievable incidents related to this effort come to my mind whenever I think of a free election and the free choice of the people.

The question of political responsibility and the political growth of the individual leader is really more important than the amendments I see before me. Take for instance, the nomination of President Eisenhower. The leader of the Republican Party was Robert A. Taft, but Eisenhower, an outsider, was nominated because the inner group in the party, this time the same business men combined with the Dewey machine, felt that Taft could not be elected and that Eisenhower could be. And Eisenhower was elected. But what of party responsibility?

There are some in this country who no longer believe in party responsibility and who are leading us, step by step, toward government by personal popularity. The parties are losing the reason for existence, except as vehicles of election. Yet experience shows that the two-party system, operating on principle, and led by men of political responsibility as in Great Britain, produces an efficient, competent type of government for a free people. How to re-establish that kind of political responsibility in this country is really our most pressing problem.

Nation Seeks Inspection, Not Disarmament

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON — The practical value of the Geneva Conference is now to be tested for the first time, at the meeting of the United Nations Disarmament Commission. Today, the best guide to the test is an incident that took place here in Washington shortly before the President left for the Summit.

In those pre-Geneva weeks, no subject divided the highest echelon of policy-makers more violently than the subject of disarmament. Having been named as the President's disarmament specialist, the always ambitious Harold Stassen was now, in effect, running for high office on a disarmament platform. Stassen therefore favored bold action on disarmament at Geneva. For obvious reasons, he was also supported by the President's psychological warfare adviser—Nelson Rockefeller.

In all three armed services, in contrast, the mere idea of a serious discussion of disarmament caused the liveliest alarm. The Pentagon was unanimous in not wanting to offer the rather hastily considered disarmament plan then being pressed by Stassen, and, unananimous, too, in not wanting to offer any plan at all.

Dulles Skeptical

At the State Department, meanwhile, Secretary John Foster Dulles maintained the highly skeptical attitude that marked his whole approach to the summit conference. As the summit meeting grew nearer and nearer, the President's hopeful enthusiasm grew warmer and warmer. But Dulles never wavered, especially on the question of disarmament, from his viewpoint that tangible results were not to be expected. Such, then, were the approaches to the problem at the crucial pre-summit meeting which the President called to work out an American disarmament policy. In its first stages, this historic discussion of disarmament threatened to deteriorate into a name-calling match. The Stassen-Rockefeller approach and the Pentagon approach were diametrically opposed.

sed, and the strongest emotions were felt on both sides.

Secretary of State Dulles acted as the great reconciler. He used the rather simple expedient of shoving the real issue under the rug, or at least off the conference table. He said, in effect:

"We know we are not going to attempt any disagreement without adequate safeguards. Therefore it is not worth arguing about what kind of disarmament we are going to accept and support, until we are sure that the other side will accept the right kind of inspection. Let's concentrate, then, on inspection and safeguards, and let's forget about disarmament until we have passed the inspection and safeguard hurdles."

Shrewd Intervention
This shrewd intervention by Dulles brought agreement out of the intra-governmental wrangle which might otherwise have continued indefinitely. Thus the way was opened to the moral victory achieved by the President's famous proposal of mutual aerial inspection.

But one vital point must now be grasped above all others. What the President talked about at Geneva was not disarmament at all. It was inspection. What the newspapers have excitedly described, in their advance notices of Gov. Stassen's program for the U. N. Disarmament meeting today, is not disarmament either. It is still inspection. Disarmament is the end, inspection and safeguards are the means by which the end is first made possible and then insured.

Moreover, there are still the same wide differences of view policy-makers as there were before Geneva. So far as can be discovered, therefore, American post-Geneva policy is only a refined and elaborated version of American pre-Geneva policy. A detailed program of inspection and safeguards has been prepared for presentation today. It will combine the two features: the mutual aerial inspection proposed by the President, plus fixed inspection teams stationed at key rail junctions and other points where preparations for aggression may be observed, to reduce the possibility of surprise attack.

Other ideas are also in the air. Stassen has been talking of an arms freeze at existing levels. This the Pentagon hates, even although an arms freeze might be better than Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson's system of gradual but continuous defense cuts.

Stassen has also concluded, quite rightly, that there is little use any longer trying to control nuclear weapons. Partly this is because they are now too easy to make. Partly it is because no amount of inspection could insure the destruction of the other side's existing stocks. And partly it is because nuclear weapons control would hamper civilian atomic development.

Favors Limitation

But with nuclear weapons control held to be impossible, Stassen naturally inclines toward limitation of the means of delivering nuclear weapons. That will mean sacrificing the Strategic Air Command, the only real remaining element of American offensive power. And before anything of that sort is attempted, both the Pentagon and the American public will have a good deal to say about it.

In short, although Stassen may be ready to offer his own private disarmament program as well as his inspection and safeguards program, this country is not any nearer to having an agreed, nationally supported approach to disarmament. Yet we are now plunging into a disarmament conference.

This is the kind of false situation that always arises when the attempt is made to decide by fiat the highest questions of national policy. And in the present case, it is an enormously dangerous false situation; for the Soviets most particularly do not want the inspection and safeguards that Stassen is ready to talk about. And if the Soviets want anything at all, they really want the disarmament that Stassen cannot possibly talk about with the authority of a national spokesman.

There comes a time when we stand at the cross-roads in the Pentagon and point with pride. In the Pentagon that's a job for a starfish.

It was a big Navy starfish who announced we were in the retail atom field. Admiral Strauss says we will let competitors bob-for-apples in the uranium pool.

The price list is subject to change without reason. We will supply 27 nations with the makings.

For mushroom clouds with silver linings our 20-20 uranium powder is $11,632 per pound. Wax dummies extra.

This is the goofer dust for king-size atom pop-offs.

This is yours to have and to hold like a bowling ball with a swollen thumb. But uranium-235 is for lease only. Uranium-235 is the step after the last off the wharf.

You can purchase normal uranium metal at $181 a pound. This brand is for soldering pots and making dummies.

Shivers Blast May Help Stevenson; Demos Don't Like Adlai's ADA Links

By Tom McNamara

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation his usual column will be written by members of his staff.)

WASHINGTON—Even his enemies—and he seems to have a lot of them—agree that the best break Adlai Stevenson has received in his comeback battle for the Democratic presidential nomination—and he can use a few breaks—was when Governor Allan Shivers of Texas came out against him.

To regular Democrats, every knock is a boost from the Dixiecrat Texan who supported the Republicans in 1952. However, Shivers said some things in his anti-Stevenson blast that many regular Democrats would agree with, much as they dislike Shivers. He also left unsaid a number of things that Democratic leaders, outside the Stevenson camp, have been saying privately.

A prominent Democrat who doesn't want to be quoted sized up the 1956 Chicago Convention as follows: "If Governor Stevenson is a candidate, he will be strongly supported in the early balloting. He will have a good many pledged delegates, including probably a sizable number from the South, but after the third ballot they will be looking around for the exits."

"In my opinion, Stevenson's problem will be controlling the itchy feet among his delegates," this leader added. "You must remember, he made it by only one and a half votes at the 1952 convention in Chicago."

Adlai's "Drawbacks"

What is the story behind the sudden allergy to the man who led the Democratic ticket in 1952? Adlai Stevenson a plain-spoken person himself, probably would like it better if it were brought out into the open. Here are some of the "drawbacks" that have been dogging his comeback trail.

1. Stevenson was defeated decisively once by Eisenhower. Even under the best possible campaign conditions, a defeated candidate has at least one strike on him.

2. Democratic foes of Stevenson claim he is too much of the suave, "city slicker" type to compete successfully against the popular and earthy Eisenhower. All Democratic leaders, both for and against Stevenson, assume that the president will run again. Those against Stevenson argue that the party needs a "new personality" to lead the ticket in 1956, if it hopes to win.

3. Anti-Stevenson Democrats contend that he couldn't carry the women's vote—at least, in a battle with Eisenhower.

However, the deadliest ammunition being aimed at Stevenson behind the scenes is a charge by fellow Democrats that he has too close a kinship with the Americans for Democratic action, an independent, liberal group that doesn't follow the party line of either the Democrats or Republicans, but is often branded as "left wing" by the conservatives of both parties.

"Of course I don't think you are left-wing or anything of that sort," replied the Democratic chief. "I am sure you are not. But the general public does not share my opinion."

Back in 1929 there were about 10 million radio sets in the U. S.; today there are 125 million. That is more radios than are owned by all the rest of the world. With less than 7 per cent of the land area of the globe and little more than 6 per cent of the earth's population, we now manufacture about half the world's goods. It looks as if we never had it so good.

What Causes This Prosperity?

Our prosperity started from the tremendous pent-up demand for goods and services that followed World War I. Our prosperity could never have since ballooned to its present size had not our government so greatly expanded our national debt by releasing enormous supplies of money. This keeps the economic machine running smoothly, but in turn taxes us all to the teeth. Some economists have said that if we do not want our heavy debt, with both high prices and high wages, then we cannot have full employment and so-called prosperity.

The thing that makes us appear so prosperous is that we are all living off our rich "Uncle," who, in order to keep up appearances and not let us down, has borrowed so heavily. Some day, however, all of us "relatives" will have to chip in to bail Uncle out. By his heavy borrowing, Uncle made it possible for us to buy homes with little or no down payment and with installments running 30 years; to stockpile agricultural surpluses which the farmer can't sell; to build vast new road systems and other public works projects; to provide military expenditures beyond the comprehension of man. Uncle Sam has done all this by borrowing from the future money which he can never repay. He borrows; he spends; he taxes; and then spends it over again. It's a wild merry-go-round.

Will This Prosperity Continue?

In 1953, Joseph Dodge, then the director of the national budget, said that our national prosperity could be likened to the status of a family that had for years lived well beyond its means; had only three times in twenty years provided itself with more receipts than it had spent; had acquired a debt four times its yearly income; and owed more than a year's income on C.O.D.'s that will have to be paid for on delivery. How good would you consider your own financial condition if you were such a family? This is the condition of the national family of which we are a part.

There is nothing dishonest about this; it can continue to go on for many years more; but some day there can be a collapse. Our prosperity is in part an artificial prosperity, artificial because it is fed by enormous government expenditures. Should the government withdraw the fantastic amounts spent for stockpiling, subsidies, public works, and the like, we can be sure our prosperity would wane. On the other hand, if we choose to continue to live on borrowed money, money which our children some day must pay back, we can continue for a while longer to have good times at our children's expense. Some day, sometime, somehow, someone must "go through the wringer." I repeat, this day may be years ahead; but once in a while I do like to remind my readers that this prosperity game cannot last forever.

50,990 See Turley Lose; Ford Wins, 6-1, Puts Yanks On Top

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Bob Kennedy's three-run homer and sharp relief pitching by Dixie Howell enabled the Chicago White Sox to beat the New York Yankees, 3-2, today after the Bombers had coasted to a 6-1 triumph in the first game of a doubleheader.

The split put the Yankees 1/2 game ahead of the White Sox while Cleveland dropped to third place, a full game off the pace, by losing a doubleheader to Washington 8-2 and 13-4.

Home runs by Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra backed Whitey Ford to his 15th victory in the opener as the slick southpaw stopped the Sox on seven hits before 50,990, the largest crowd of the season at Comiskey Park.

Bob Turley suffered his 13th defeat against as many wins in the nightcap although he pitched fine ball after the rocky first inning.

Turley gave up a single to George Kell with one out and Minnie Minoso walked. Walt Dropo struck out but Kennedy blasted his sixth homer of the year into the upper deck. That began and ended Chicago's scoring.

Minoso stretched his consecutive game hitting streak to 22, hitting safely in both games.

Ford was very effective in the opener, spacing seven hits. Chicago's only run resulted from Walt Dropo's 18th home run in the fourth inning.

Morgan's Double In 9th Nets East All-Star Win

"Rags" Bats In Two Runs To Sink West In Pen-Mar Battle

Robert "Rags" Morgan came through in the clutch with a two-run double in the ninth inning to give the East a 3-2 victory over the West in the Pen-Mar Baseball League's second all-star game of the season yesterday at Barreilleville.

The win enabled the East team composed of players from Hyndman, Barreilleville, Flintstone and Wellersburg to avenge a 10-4 setback suffered in the first all-star contest on June 19 at Mt. Savage.

Andy Felker of Flintstone made a pass to open the East's lead in the ninth. Morgan, of Barreilleville, then slammed a two-bagger to center for the only extra base hit of the game which sent over the tying and winning runs.

Bill Haberlein of Flintstone, who twirled the last three innings got credit for the win while Vince King, of Mt. Savage, who came on in the eighth, was charged with the loss. Jim Leydig of Hyndman started on the mound for the East and retired the first nine men to face him in order. Jerry Lohel, Wellersburg, hurled the fourth, fifth and sixth innings with Haberlein as the finisher. Junie Perry, Grantsville, Ronnie Rice, Zihlman and Ralph Dickel, Mt. Savage, preceded King on the mound for the West.

The West took a 1-0 lead in the fourth when Perry singled, took second when Woodson of Grantsville was safe on an error, advanced to third on a fielder's choice and scored on a passed ball by Bryant. Singles by Andy Felker and Bob Cessna and an error by left fielder Wilson of Eckhart ended the East to knot the count at 1-1 in the 7th. The West moved ahead at 2-1 in the top of the ninth when Vince King singled, stole second, went to third on an infield out and crossed the platter on a passed ball by Lough.

No player obtained more than one hit. Leydig fanned two, Lohel three, Haberlein three, Perry four, and Rice, four. Each team sent 18 players in action. Score: WEST 2, EAST 3.

Yankees, Chisox Split; Indians Drop Pair To Washington

Bob Kennedy Circuit Out Wins 2nd, 3-2

50,990 See Turley Lose; Ford Wins, 6-1, Puts Yanks On Top

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP)—Bob Kennedy's three-run homer and sharp relief pitching by Dixie Howell enabled the Chicago White Sox to beat the New York Yankees, 3-2, today after the Bombers had coasted to a 6-1 triumph in the first game of a doubleheader.

The split put the Yankees 1/2 game ahead of the White Sox while Cleveland dropped to third place, a full game off the pace, by losing a doubleheader to Washington 3-2 and 13-4.

Home runs by Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra backed Whitey Ford to his 15th victory in the opener as the slick southpaw stopped the Sox on seven hits before 50,990, the largest crowd of the season at Comiskey Park.

Bob Turley suffered his 13th defeat against as many wins in the nightcap although he pitched fine ball after the rocky first inning.

Turley gave up a single to George Kell with one out and Minnie Minoso walked. Walt Dropo struck out but Kennedy blasted his sixth homer of the year into the upper deck. That began and ended Chicago's scoring.

Minoso stretched his consecutive game hitting streak to 22, hitting safely in both games.

Ford was very effective in the opener, spacing seven hits. Chicago's only run resulted from Walt Dropo's 18th home run in the fourth inning.

Morgan's Double In 9th Nets East All-Star Win

"Rags" Baits In Two Runs To Sink West In Pen-Mar Battle

Robert "Rags" Morgan came through in the clutch with a two-run double in the ninth inning to give the East a 3-2 victory over the West in the Pen-Mar Baseball League's second all-star game of the season yesterday at Barreille.

The win enabled the East team composed of players from Hyndman, Barreille, Flintstone and Wellersburg to avenge a 10-4 setback suffered in the first all-star contest on June 19 at Mt. Savage.

Andy Felker of Flintstone drew a pass to open the East's last-ditch rally. He advanced to second on a sacrifice by Jack Keller of Hyndman and moved to third on a single by Bob Cessa of Wellersburg.

Morgan, of Barreille, then slammed a two-bagger to center for the only extra base hit of the game which sent over the tying and winning runs.

Bill Haberlein of Flintstone, who twirled the last three innings got credit for the win while Vince King, of Mt. Savage, who came on in the eighth, was charged with the loss. Jim Leydig of Hyndman started on the mound for the East.

and retired the first nine men to face him in order. Jerry Lohel, Wellersburg, hurled the fourth, fifth and sixth innings with Haberlein as the finisher. Junior Perry, Grantsville; Ronnie Rice, Zihlman and Ralph Dickel, Mt. Savage, preceded King on the mound for the West.

The West took a 1-0 lead in the fourth when Perry singled, took second when Woodson of Grantsville was safe on an error, advanced to third on a fielder's choice and scored on a passed ball by Bryant. Singles by Andy Felker and Bob Cessa and an error by left fielder Wilson of Eckhart enabled the East to knot the count at 1-1 in the 7th. The West moved ahead at 2-1 in the top of the ninth when Vince King singled, stole second, went to third on an infield out and crossed the platter on a passed ball by Lough.

No player obtained more than one hit. Leydig fanned two, Lohel, three, Haberlein, three, Perry, four, and Rice, four. Each team sent 18 players in action. Score: WEST 2, EAST 3.

Timonium Races Open Wednesday

TIMONIUM, Md., Aug. 28—The sport of horse racing in Maryland moves to the state fair grounds Wednesday after 10 days at Hagerstown.

Racing at Timonium will last for 10 days also, starting daily at 1:30 p.m.

Timonium is by far the best attended of the five half-mile tracks in the state because of the added attraction of the fair. Betting last year amounted to $3,909,804, a decline from 1953 because of a hagerstown's business also was off this year due to four days of competition from nearby Charles Town, W. Va., and rain. The attendance of 65,057 was 10,049 less than last year and betting of $3,159,614 down $484,934.

Timonium Races Open Wednesday

TIMONIUM, Md., Aug. 28 (AP).—The sport of horse racing in Maryland moves to the state fair grounds Wednesday after 10 days at Hagerstown.

Racing at Timonium will last for 10 days also, starting daily at 1:30 p.m.

Timonium is by far the best attended of the five half-mile tracks in the state because of the added attraction of the fair. Betting last year amounted to $3,909,804, a decline from 1953 because of a heat wave.

Hagerstown's business also was off this year due to four days of competition from nearby Charles Town, W. Va., and rain. The attendance of 65,057 was 10,049 less than last year and betting of $3,159,614 down $484,934.

Three Churches Woman Dies Of Polio Attack

First 1955 Fatality From Dread Disease

Polio proved fatal to a 22-year-old housewife of Three Churches, W. Va., who was taken to Memorial Hospital for treatment and later rushed by ambulance to Baltimore City Hospital where more adequate equipment is provided. The victim, Mrs. Elma Ruth Deskins, the fourth person reported to have contracted the disease in the Tri-State area this summer, succumbed at the Baltimore Hospital about 6 p. m. Saturday.

She was the first fatality due to polio this year in the Tri-State area. Mrs. Deskins suffered bulbar paralysis of the respiratory system which is termed as unusual and severe. She was taken to Memorial Hospital about 6 p. m. Friday.

The pneumonia of the City Police Department was taken to the local hospital and the victim was treated prior to being rushed to Baltimore.

She was reported to have been ill for a few days before being taken to the hospital here. A Romney physician, who was treating the woman, suspected polio on Friday during a visit to her home, and had her sent to the hospital.

A native of Uniontown, Pa., she was born May 24, 1933, and was a daughter of Ralph C. and Virginia (Baker) Dusic. Surviving, besides her parents, are her husband, William E. Deskins, and a brother, Ralph C. Dusic Jr., and a sister, Sandra V. Dusic, at home.

A funeral service will be conducted on Wednesday at the Episcopal Church in Romney, with Rev. Arch M. Hewitt Jr., rector, officiating. Interment will be in Indian Mound Cemetery.

Adventist Group Will Attend Mich. Congress

A group of Cumberland and Frostburg Seventh Day Adventist Church members will leave today for Grand Ledge, Mich., to attend a layman's congress which opens tomorrow.

Appointed as delegates are Elder A. D. Wetmore, pastor of the two churches, L. R. Hartman, missionary leader of the Cumberland congregation; Miss Carol Hartman, C. L. Kennan, Mrs. Ethel Dreyer, Elder E. G. Brown, Mrs. Esther Crump, of Cumberland; Mrs. Leona Dugman, Ridgeley; and Mrs. June Sigler, Frostburg.

Guest speakers will be D. A. Ochs, president of the Columbia Union Conference; M. L. Rice, president of the Lake Union Conference; L. E. Lenheim, president of the Atlantic Union Conference; W. A. Nelson, president of the Canadian Union Conference; W. R. Ochs, president of the North American Division of Seventh Day Adventists; and W. R. Beach, secretary of the general conference of Adventists.

The congress is sponsored by the Home Missionary Department of the General Conference of Adventists, T. L. Oswald, secretary.

The congress will give practical help to the laymen through workshops in welfare work, Bible study and other efforts of a spiritual nature.

This is the third of three laymen's congresses to be held this summer for the North American division of the church, and the second to be held at Grand Ledge, the first one being held there in 1951.

Barbara Sitter Will Order

Following a bonneting ceremony this morning at 11 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Sister Barbara H. Sitter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sitter, 400 Piedmont Avenue, will enter the Order of School Sisters of Notre Dame.

Presiding at the ceremony will be the Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkeny, rural dean of Western Maryland and pastor of the church. Rev. John U. Lyness, assistant pastor, will give a talk. Following will be benediction.

Miss Sitter, a graduate of Girls Central High School, Class of 1951, will leave for Baltimore after the ceremony and will enter the candidature of the Sisters of Notre Dame where she will study for the next year.

Over 1,200 Hear Band Concert

Over 1,200 persons turned out last night at Constitution Park Amphitheater to hear the season's last outdoor concert of the Cumberland Municipal Band.

The concert was received enthusiastically by the music lovers who turned out in spite of threatening skies.

The crowd was almost a record, and officials said attendance would probably have been the highest of the season had it not been for the overcast skies.

To Pass Holiday Order

An order designating next Monday, Labor Day, as a holiday for city departments is slated to be acted upon by the Mayor and Council this morning.

Library Is Being Repainted

The Cumberland Free Public Library is being given a new coat of paint and work is expected to be completed the latter part of this week. Workmen of Whitman and Cessna, painting contractors, can be seen in the above picture, busy at work. The library is being given a coat of white undercoat as well as a coat of white gloss.

The project is being done at a cost of $1,195 appropriated recently by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners. Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, said the painting of the building is expected to be finished in time for the tour of historic buildings, part of the Bicentennial celebration here, September 10.

Woman Thought Penniless Leaves Estate Valued At $40,000, Dispute Results

A dispute has resulted in Washington over the estate of a woman who died in Garrett County, whose wealth, revealed at her death, amazed friends who say they paid some seven or eight months before her death.

Her surprising will was admitted to probate in Garrett County. Her cousin, Mrs. M. Myrtle Schlossnagel of Friendsville, was named as beneficiary and executor.

A. J. McGurn, 4100 Thirty-second road south, Arlington, is opposing probate of the will in Maryland. In letters filed with the District Register of Wills, he charges that Mrs. James was still a District resident when she died.

McGurn, a private investigator, says he entered the case after trying unsuccessfully to get $3,000 from the estate for work he did for Mrs. James. He said she told him at the time she had no money to pay him.

The legation of wills' file also notes that Mrs. Julia A. McKinley, 2426 Newton Street N.E., a friend of Mrs. James, took care of her at various times. Mrs. McKinley said she assumed Mrs. James had some money, since she was drawing pension checks after her retirement as a Veteran's Administration clerk. But she did not realize the size of her friend's assets, she said.

Mrs. McKinley said Mrs. James habitually complained about poverty. Mrs. McKinley said she purchased food for the woman, and paid for her care for three months in a nursing home here.

Mrs. Schlossnagel's Washington attorney, Frank E. Scrivener, filed a motion to dismiss McGurn's motion. Scrivener said his motion was based on the explanation that McGurn has no right to challenge the Garrett County probating of the estate.

Five residents of Eglen, W. Va., were hospitalized early yesterday morning with injuries sustained in an auto accident which occurred on U. S. Route 219, two miles north of Parsons.

Couple Renews Marriage Vows On Mountaintop

FRANKLIN, W. Va., Aug. 28 (AP)—A young, newlywed couple renewed their marriage vows today atop a craggy 1,000-foot peak in the West Virginia mountains.

Roland Leavens and the former Miss Doris McCartney chose to reenact their wedding at Seneca Rocks because that's where they became engaged recently while on a climbing expedition.

And, Leavens said, "You are closest to God and religion when you are up on a mountain."

About a dozen persons, including the parents of the couple, watched the unusual ceremony, presided over by the Rev. R. C. Bunning of the Circleville, W. Va., Methodist church.

Yesterday the couple said their vows in the conventional atmosphere of the Bay Village, Ohio, Methodist church near Cleveland, with the Rev. Alfred Kreke officiating.

The bride changed into her wedding dress in a shelter shortly before reaching the summit. Leavens switched from his climbing garb to suit pants and a sports shirt for the occasion.

Down below an estimated 500 persons, many with binoculars, watched the wedding re-enactment. An impromptu reception was staged after the couple climbed down.

Only sad note in the affair was that members of the wedding party were unable to trek up the mountain. They were injured slightly last night in an auto accident near Connellsville, Pa.

Leavens and his bride plan to motor through New England on their honeymoon.

Leavens, 24-year-old industrial engineer of Bay Village, met his bride, 23, last year while giving a talk on mountain climbing at Bay Village High School where she taught. She became interested in the hobby and made some climbing trips with Leavens' club.

It was during these trips that the romance blossomed and Leavens asked her to marry him on Seneca Rocks last May.
